Foreword

It gives me great pleasure to introduce this revised syllabus for the Trinity Professional Performing Arts Diplomas.

These qualifications give formal recognition of the skills, knowledge and understanding that are acquired in training to prepare students to become professional actors, dancers, musical theatre performers or technical theatre practitioners. We believe that these revised qualifications truly reflect the requirements of professional performing arts training at the beginning of the 21st century.

The qualifications are awarded to students who successfully complete a course at a professional training provider that is validated by Trinity College London and who are successfully assessed in their final year by a Trinity assessor. Assessment is undertaken by professional actors, dancers and directors.

They are the only qualifications attached to the UK Government's Dance and Drama Awards funding scheme.

I sincerely hope that any student undertaking these diplomas, or any provider offering a course leading towards them, will find them stimulating, challenging and relevant for the professional performer today. The standards and expectations are high, but students attaining this qualification will be well prepared for a full and successful career in acting, dance, musical theatre or production skills.

Introduction to the Professional Performing Arts Diplomas

Overview

Trinity College London's Professional Performing Arts Diplomas have been developed, with government support, to ensure that students possess the vocational competences required for employment as professional performers with skills in acting, musical theatre and dance. There is also a diploma in production skills. Any Course Provider wishing to deliver a course leading to these Professional Performing Arts Diplomas must obtain validation from Trinity College London. These qualifications are the only ones which are required for students who are given funding under the government's Dance and Drama Awards scheme. Some institutions choose to offer them even though they are not part of the scheme as their vocational relevance is widely recognised.

The following qualifications are accredited at Level 6 on the Qualifications and Credit Framework:

- Level 6 Diploma in Professional Dance (420 credits)
- Level 6 Diploma in Professional Musical Theatre (420 credits)
- Level 6 Diploma in Professional Acting (420 credits)
- Level 6 Diploma in Professional Production Skills (255 credits).

The following qualifications are accredited at Level 5 on the Qualifications and Credit Framework:

- Level 5 Diploma in Professional Dance (Classical Ballet or Contemporary Dance) (255 credits)
- Level 5 Diploma in Professional Acting (150 credits).

The Trinity College London website at www.trinitycollege.co.uk gives details of the formal name and reference number of qualifications approved within the Qualifications and Credit Framework by Ofqual (Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulation).

Qualification structure

Each Diploma contains some compulsory units comprising a number of components. Candidates must achieve a pass in every unit to obtain the qualification.

Each component covers the skills and knowledge required to facilitate entry to, and sustain employment in, the performing arts and entertainment industry. However, passing the Diploma is not a guarantee of employment. Learning outcomes are indicative of the standards required to pass the unit, while assessment objectives describe the breadth and depth of study necessary to achieve the outcomes.

The Diplomas are accredited by Ofqual and are recognised on the Qualifications and Credit Framework.

Funding and progression routes

These Diplomas are the only qualifications attached to the government's Dance and Drama Awards scheme, administered and managed through the Education Funding Agency. Students may be able to access financial help towards the cost of their training through this scheme. More information can be found at www.direct.gov.uk/danceanddrama

These qualifications are designed primarily for students wishing to progress directly into professional performing careers or into professional performance production. The Professional Performing Arts Diplomas also provide an APEL (Approved Prior Experience and Learning) route onto the BA(Hons) Professional Practice (BAPP) designed by Middlesex University for students who have been awarded one of the Professional Performing Arts Diplomas. The 120-credit course gives participants the opportunity to study for a BA(Hons) while continuing with their professional performing activities. In addition, the Professional Performing Arts Diplomas provide an APEL route into some MA programmes.

Regulations

Course Providers

Course Providers are validated to provide these qualifications in their entirety to candidates registered with Trinity. These Providers undergo a validation process to ensure qualifications are delivered at the appropriate standard, and Trinity maintains ongoing scrutiny of Course Providers to ensure students are achieving at appropriate levels. For more information on becoming a validated Provider please contact dada@trinitycollege.co.uk

Validation, course delivery and the Course Provider's Handbook

Any Course Provider wishing to deliver a course leading to the award of a Professional Diploma must obtain validation from Trinity College London. Trinity College London will provide every validated Course Provider with a Course Provider's Handbook, which contains information and guidance on the content and delivery of validated courses. Course Providers will need to follow the guidelines laid down in the handbook carefully in order to ensure courses are administered and delivered correctly.

Entry requirements and APEL (Approved Prior Experience and Learning)

Candidates applying to study for a Professional Performing Arts Diploma should be able to demonstrate talent and potential for future employment in the performing arts and the curiosity, intelligence and stamina required to benefit from intensive training. Though there are no formal qualification requirements for entry, typically, this qualification can provide a progression route for students who have undertaken GCSE, A Level, BTEC or graded exams in Drama, Dance, Music or the Performing Arts. Potential will be assessed by audition and interview at a college validated to provide the Diploma by Trinity College London.

Assessment

Assessment and moderation

Internal assessment

Course Providers' internal assessment procedures are scrutinised during the validation process in order to ensure that procedures are fair, rigorous and clear. Providers are only required to assess students at a Pass/Fail level. However, Trinity considers it good practice for the students to be given a clear indication of the level of their attainment by the Provider. Students must be assessed formally at least once annually, and must pass their assessments in all core subjects and integrated professional studies in order to proceed onto the next year of the course. Usually students will be assessed and have feedback on their progress at several points during each year. Where students fail an area, an opportunity to re-take the subject should be offered. Detailed guidance on assessment procedures and weighting are given in the Course Provider's Handbook. Attainment descriptors for each component are detailed in each Diploma and may be a useful guide to Course Providers when assessing student skills.

Trinity assessment and moderation

Trinity moderates the Provider's internal assessment of first, second and third year students and externally assesses students in their final year performances. Trinity will send assessors to a range of events, performances and internal assessments. It is the responsibility of the Provider to inform Trinity when assessment and performances take place. Without this information Trinity cannot fulfil its moderation or assessment responsibilities. Further information on the arrangement of visits can be found in the Course Provider's Handbook.

Awarding of the qualification

The final approval of the awarding of the Professional Performing Arts Diplomas rests with the Trinity College London Diploma Board. The Diploma Board consists of Senior Trinity assessors and meets as and when necessary to advise and adjudicate on all matters relating to the course content and delivery of the Diplomas. The aims and responsibilities of the Board are to review the relevance, validity, reliability and working conduct of any and all assessments. All meetings are minuted, and the Head of Drama and Performance is informed of any recommendations which they are advised to respond to and report back on.

Introduction to the Professional Performing Arts Diplomas

Trinity assessors

Trinity assessors are professional performers, or former performers who often also have extensive experience in performing arts teaching and/or performing arts administration. The Trinity assessors' major role is moderation of the Course Provider's own assessment procedures to ensure the school is applying fair, rigorous and transparent procedures. Assessors moderate either class or performance assessment occasions, and assess students in their final year performances. All assessors attend an annual conference which involves additional training and standardisation exercises.

A proportion of Trinity assessors are senior assessors who have additional roles to the general assessors. These include moderating assessors, validation and pre-validation of new Course Providers, re-validation of current Providers, and involvement in the creation of new materials and handbooks. Senior assessors also form the Diploma Board, which meets to moderate and adjudicate all matters relating to course delivery.

Guided learning hours

As each Provider delivers the qualification in its own unique way, it is not possible to require specific guided learning hours (GLH). However these qualifications are by nature very intensive in taught hours. These GLH are approximate only and Providers may have different intensities of guided time depending on where the student is in the course. Generally the GLH are between 1,000-1,250 per year and do not include self-directed projects. Practical units of the qualification are much more intensive in contact time than Integrated Professional Skills. Please see the tables on pages 10 and 23 for the specific guided learning hours for each unit.

Please note: the guided learning hours of each Provider will be agreed with Trinity at the time of validation. It is also important for Providers to note that some components or parts of components will be delivered through the provision of other units. For example some elements of the health and safety component will be delivered through practical units of the qualification.

Special needs

Trinity College London welcomes candidates with special needs. Successful candidates with special needs should communicate their requirements to the Provider in order that their needs may be met and special arrangements made as and where possible. Students with special needs should also make their GP aware of the nature of the course they are undertaking and be prepared to present a clearance note from their GP approving their participation.

Special needs and Provider responsibility

Each Provider is validated separately and within this procedure the Provider needs to show that they are making reasonable adjustments to adapt their course and assessments to provide for students with special needs. Course Providers should inform Trinity regarding the special needs of individual students so that assessors are appropriately informed prior to visits.

Reasonable adjustments and special consideration

By regularly reviewing the way in which we provide our services, Trinity aims to identify the barriers or impediments to access.

Malpractice

When schools are validated to provide the Trinity Professional Performing Arts Diplomas they make a commitment to abide by the guidelines set out in the Provider's Handbook and the Qualifications Handbook. Where a Provider does not keep to these guidelines, Trinity will advise them on any changes they need to make and a deadline by which to make them. If the deadlines given are not met Trinity will consider this as malpractice. Malpractice may result in the withdrawal of validation.

Fees

Qualification fees are printed on a separate fee sheet. Details are available from Trinity's London office (dada@trinitycollege.co.uk).

Appeals

Appeals procedure for Providers

Entry for Trinity qualification is deemed to constitute acceptance of the professional judgement of the assessor(s). Course Providers and students who wish to question the outcome of their qualifications should use the procedure set out at www.trinitycollege.co.uk/appeals

Allowable grounds for appeal.

Two broad categories of appeal will be considered:

- Claims of irregular procedure on the part of the assessor
- A clear mismatch between the comments of one or more reports and the final result awarded to a student at the end of their course, in relation to the published criteria.

Full details of the appeal levels can be found in the Course Provider's Handbook.

Appeals procedure for students

All Course Providers must have a published Appeals Procedure.

Trinity considers appeals against overall awards of fail where candidates provide information or evidence that courses were possibly not delivered in line with the Course Provider's publicity and course information and/or Trinity's validation requirements and that therefore they were deprived of appropriate training and/or an appropriate assessment procedure. Appeals may also relate to inappropriate assessment practice or behaviour.

Trinity does not enter into disputes between candidates and Course Providers relating to payment or refund of fees or other charges, or financial compensation for delivery of services. If an appeal is accompanied by a written or verbal proposal of legal action, then Trinity does not pursue the normal appeals procedures but refers the matter to its solicitors. Full details of the appeal levels can be found in the Course Provider's Handbook.

Guidance for delivery of qualifications

The following is guidance for provision of some aspects of the Professional Performing Arts Diplomas. These guidelines are not compulsory but offer some suggestions to Providers in the delivery of the qualifications. Each Provider delivers the qualifications in their own unique way. Full guidance for Course Providers on the administration and delivery of these qualifications is given in the Course Provider's Handbook which is available for all Validated Course Providers.

Integrated Professional Studies (IPS)

Integrated Professional Studies develop the thinking, imaginative, self-reliant performer and incorporate key and transferable skills. IPS can be evidenced by 3 separate files which are supportive of the practical work of the Diploma.

The Personal File – kept across the three years of study

The Information File – kept across the three years of study

The Performance Project File – a record of a 3rd year project

Detailed guidance on the content of these files and suitable pro-formas for use in them are given in the Course Provider's Handbook. Providers are able to adapt and change the formats to suit their own provision.

Course Providers should provide relevant internal assessment records for IPS for all candidates. Trinity assessors should be given access to all Personal Files and Performance Project Files where necessary.

Transferable Skills

Transferable skills are an implicit and valuable part of performing arts training and equip candidates with knowledge and capabilities that can be used in another profession/workplace. The acquisition of transferable skills should be assessed in everyday practice across the course and also evidenced in the candidates' Personal File and 3rd year Performance Project File.

Level 5 Diploma in Professional Dance

The Trinity Level 5 Diploma in Professional Dance is a two year vocational qualification. The emphasis of the qualification is on the artistic, creative, technical and professional skills that a dancer needs in order to fully prepare for a varied, sustainable and high level performing career in professional dance. Course work will require candidates to major in either classical ballet or contemporary dance, with a secondary dance discipline as a minor subject, plus supporting studies. Candidates need to audition successfully for a course that has been validated to provide the Diploma by Trinity College London. Each validated course has its own unique identity and will provide the Diploma within its own curriculum.

Structure

The Diploma is a unit-based qualification in which candidates are required to have passed EITHER Units 1 or 2 (optional choice) AND Units 3, 4 and 5. Units 1, 2 and 4 comprise the core techniques and performance skills needed to become a professional dancer and Unit 3 provides supporting technical skills. Unit 5 contains the professional supporting studies which underpin the other units. These develop the skills to enable candidates to become informed practitioners who are well prepared to secure and maintain employment.

- breadth and depth of understanding.

Communication

In assessment, the Course Provider should take into account:

- presentation skills
- communication skills
- ability to relay content and intention
- understanding of audience needs and expectations
